

As both a registered voter and a consumer of XM Radio, I am disappointed to hear the grouching of broadcast radio to its governing body. The benefits of satellite radio far outweigh the commercial negatives as a user and resisting competition in this long overlooked area of radio does a disservice to the American public.

Please see that issues of competition are kept where they belong, as a consumer choice, not a governmental issue.

Sincerely,
Amy Reimer